News Know-How

The Source

A person who provides a reporter with information is known as a "source." This is because the person would be a source of information for a reporter.

LESSON LIBRARY

Boost your skills using the newspaper.

Find an article in today's newspaper in which someone was interviewed. Look for quotes from the people interviewed. What question do you think the reporter asked to get that comment from the person interviewed? Write the question on another sheet of paper, then copy the quote you think answered that question.
